WEDNESDAY E ENING, DECEMBER 18.

The Bird Market at Lucknow. Some birds are used medicinally, and it is well known what strange ideas native doctors have of the virtues of bird flesh. Both the flesh and the brains of the common sparrow, especially the cock sparrow, are in great repute for certain diseases; so a cageful of the familiar chatters is never missing in the market. Certain species are used in making love potions, and are administered by rejected suitors to the objects of their adoration. On the other hand, the blood or the flesh of an owl is supposed to make a person insane who drinks or eats it. On this account men who are devoured by jealousy of a rival or baired of an enemy come furtively to the market, and, purchasing an owl, in silence carry it home secretly and prepare a decoction which an accomplice will put into the food or drink of the object of their malignant designs The list of uses for bird flesh is not ex The list of uses for bird flesh is not exhausted yet. Eating a crow is supposed to prolong life by keeping the hair black and preventing it from turning gray. The common roller, often called a bluejay, has certain rites performed over it, and is then set free after one feather has been plucked from it. This feather is then worn as an amulet, and is supposed to have great potency in averting the evil eye. Another purpose for which birds are purchased every morning is to be set free again. This is done by Hindus as a work of merit, and by Mohammedans, after cerof merit, and by Mohammedans, after cer-tain rites have been performed, as an atone ment in imitation of the Jewess scapegoat. It is essential that a bird used for this pur-pose should be strong enough to fly away, but that does not induce the cruel dealers to feed the birds or to refrain from dislocating their wings or breaking their legs. They put down everything to good or bad luck, and leave the customer to choose a strong bird if he can find one, and to go away if he can-

The merit obtained by setting a bird free is not attributed to the Daity, but is supposed to come in a large measure from the bird Itself or from its attendant spirit, and hence birds of good or bad omen, and especially kites and crows, are in much demand, and are regularly caught to be sold for this purpose .- Pioneer

A VETERAN.

I was wounded in the leg at the battle of Stone River, Dec. 31st, 1892. My blood was poisoned from the effects of the wound, and the leg swelled to double its natural size, and remained so for many years. The poison extended to my whole system, and I suffered a thousand deaths. Nothing did me any good until I took Swift's Specific, which took the poison out of my system, and enabled me to feel myself a man again. S. S. S. is the remedy for blood poison.
